Is this a sign of the times? A Detroit funeral home director sent out a text message to his colleagues last month saying, "FYI, city of Detroit can't process death certificates because they have no paper and don't have money to buy any."

The Detroit News reported Thursday the problem cropped up July 23, five days into the bankruptcy, when a paper vender demanded cash payment for the special embossed paper rather than continue to let the city operate on credit.

IN MEMORY OF

John Wallace Dickey, a former AGS member, passed away August 10, 2013. Many of you may have known him as an instructor at TCC in the Senior classes. Published in Star-Telegram on August. 13, 2013

THANK YOU

On behalf of the AGS members, I wish to extend a heartfelt Thank You to Tom Cogdell, who has written the AGS newsletter for the past 6 years.

If you have an article for the newsletter, please forward it to me to be included, as space is available. Any comments, good or bad, are welcome.

Special thanks to the Library's graphic arts Intern, Corie, for the AGS flyers. They are eye-catching and informative.

Ruth Goodman

You never know where your genealogy information will come from. I have been contacted by oil and gas companies in West Virginia regarding my gggrandmother. It seems that I am entitled to a portion of the oil and gas money on the properties that she owned in 1908. She died 100 years ago this year. When contacted, my first thought is that they have the wrong person. After much genealogy "digging," I determined that I was related to her.

FYI: AGS was fortunate enough to have a former member, Willard Eugene Keller, who transcribed The Arlington Journal for the Library as well as furnish us with a CD of his work.

Willard Eugene Keller, 90, passed away Tuesday, Sept. 20, 2011.

Life Comes to End (picture)

MRS. R. W. Collins, who died Wednesday, had lived in Arlington since Early Days.

Mrs. R. W. Collins, better known to her children, grand-children and hosts of friends as Grandmother, passed peacefully away at her home at 8 p. m., Wednesday.

Grandmother Collins had reached the ripe old age of eighty-eight years. The major portion of that time had been spent in the Arlington vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Collins came to Texas from Jackson County, Alabama, where she was born July 31, 1841.

It was in this same county that she married Mr. R. W. Collins better known to his Arlington friends as "Uncle Wood." Mrs. Collins, before her marriage, was Mary Elizabeth Gray, a direct descendant of George Washington. She was Regent of a Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, organized in her own family and consisting of twenty-two members.

After her marriage to Mr. Collins, they lived in Alabama until emigrating to Texas, and were engaged in merchandising there. They arrived in Dallas in the early part of 1874 where Mr. Collins was engaged in the real estate business for a short while. From here they moved to a farm a short distance from Arlington and a little later moved into Arlington where he was engaged in merchandising until his death in 1912.

Grandmother Collins was the mother of seventeen children, of whom twelve reached maturity. Five children died in infancy. Only five of her children now survive, as follows: Mrs. J. A. Elliott, Mrs. T. F. Yates, Miss Fannie Collins, Mrs. George F. Luttrell and Mrs. W. M. Moore of Fort Worth.

Funeral services were held from her home at 3:30 p. m. with Rev. H. F. Dana, pastor of the First Baptist Church; Rev. W. T. Rouse, pastor of the Arlington Baptist Church, and Rev. S. M. Bennett, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was in the family plot beside her husband in Arlington cemetery.

The active pallbearers were her sons and grandsons: George E. Luttrell, Joe A. Elliott, T. F. Yates, Frank Meek, B. F. Houston and Will Moore; John, W. T., George, Joe A. Jr. and Jack Elliott, Dick Yates, Collins Thompson, Ray, James and Fred Luttrell; Ben O. Collins; Terrell, Clarence and Carl Meek; Tilford and Lieghton Collins; Thomas Houston; Tom L. Cravens; W. I. Ghormley; Dr. Valin R. Woodward; Luther Thompson; Ed Rudd; Howard Slaughter; Roy Forsythe; Max Brock; Paul Pearce; Edward Hornbeck, and Chester A. Farris.
