Richard S. Robinson, also known as "Rich" is the Museum Coordinator for the National Multicultural Western Heritage Museum. For the past 13 years, Richard has been responsible for securing historical artifacts, supervising volunteers, and organizing displays. He has also facilitated projects, museum workshops, receptions, group tours, storytelling, annual events, and forums. Richard has contributed to the management and organization of activities hosted by the museum including the annual rodeo and the Hall of Fame ceremony. Richard has a passion for speaking about the history and diversity of western culture. He has been a featured speaker at numerous events, where he told stories of cowboys, cowgirls and overcoming the struggles of the West. Richard has a Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) degree from the University of Phoenix and currently works as the night manager for Tom Thumb. He has been married for 24 years to Patricia Robinson and is the father of three children. "My middle name is 'Shane', after the Alan Ladd movie 1953. My father believed in the heroic cowboy."

Robert P. (Bob) Holmes is currently an Independent Associate of IGNITE ENERGY, which is the marketing arm of STREAM ENERGY. Bob is retired from a 56-year career in Defense and Commercial Flight Safety Critical Components manufacturing, testing, and sales/marketing. He has AA from Tarrant County Community College (formerly TCJC) and BA and MBA degrees from UTA. Bob is a current CTA and CVB volunteer, historical researcher and photographer. He has experience in sales and marketing, tourism, Native American and Texas History. Clara Wallace Holmes, a retired Registered Nurse, is a Consultant, Public Speaker and Historical Events Planner. Her formal education includes Chaffee College, Alta Loma, California, Associate in Science Degree with a Major in Nursing; and Redlands University, Redlands, California, BA in Liberal Arts. After retirement from the medical industry in positions as Emergency Services, Assistant Director of Nurses and Regional Director of Operations, Clara began working for the Fort Worth Convention and Visitors Bureau, as Manager of the Visitors Information Center at Will Rogers Memorial Center, from 2000 to 2011. As Holmes Consulting, Bob and Clara have worked with other historians to organize exhibits, symposiums and historical designations such as the Co-ordinator of Quanah and Cynthia Ann Parker Touring Exhibit, 2010; Co-organize to establish the statue of Major Ripley Allen Arnold and the McMillan Plaza - 2014; Co-ordinator of the permanent "Bill Pickett Exhibit" (artifacts and images) at the Cowtown Coliseum and the "Bill Pickett Touring Exhibit" - 2014; Co-organizer with Doug Harman the EARLY TARRANT COUNTY travelling pictorial exhibit -2016, just to name a few of the programs and projects they have been a part of.

Mark Lucas Kelly serves as the Celebrant, Public Relations Director, and Marketing Director for Lucas Funeral Homes and Cremation Services, a sixth-generation family owned and operated business founded in Grapevine, Texas. Mark grew up in Hurst, Texas, where he graduated from L. D. Bell High School. His formal education includes Post B.A. Teaching Certification, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona, 1993; B.A., University of Texas at Austin, 1984, Major: Government-Legislative Affairs. His work experiences include Public School Teacher, advised at a Major University, managed two Public Radio stations, resort director and actor. Mark is member of the National Multicultural Western Heritage Museum Board of Directors. His experience as a results-oriented non-profit administrator and public relations director with progressive and successful experience in all phases of development, marketing, and general management in both the non-profit and private sector, as well as being experienced in programming, training, volunteer recruiting, grant writing, fundraising, program design, implementation, and community outreach make him an asset to the growth and development of the museum. A history buff and widely traveled, Mark's desire is to learn and share an accurate accounting of American history that will dispel myths and promote western heritage and cultural diversity.
