Using City Directories

Once upon a time there were Phone Books and City Directories where you could look up information on your friends and your community. (And not just for large cities—even small towns.) These directories can yield many details vital to our genealogical research. Come learn where to find them and how to use them.

Debbie Pearson is a retired school teacher of 37 years. She did her undergraduate work at Stephen F. Austin and her Master's at TCU. She developed her love of genealogy from her aunt who insisted she travel back to Tennessee, Arkansas, Georgia, Alabama, North & South Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Indiana, and Illinois to see where their ancestors lived and to study locally. She spent many hours in courthouses and libraries and eventually refined her research into memberships in DAR, NSUSD 1812, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and Daughters of the Republic of Texas. Her Texas roots run back to 1839 in Shelby county making her a 5th generation Texan. She also serves currently in Fort Worth

Genealogical Society as Newsletter editor and Programs Director.
