ADOPTION RESEARCH

With

JANICE BLAKELY

Do you have adopted relatives wanting to trace their biological parentage? Are you uncertain how to trace their lines for them. There are SEARCH ANGELS out there who help with this. Often the answer is DNA. Please come hear Janice tell you her own advice gleaned through her own experiences with adoption research and family ties.

Janice Blakely was lovingly adopted into her forever family. But she did yearn to find her biological roots as well. Especially as she gained interest in genealogy. Janice has learned many techniques as she sought her way to finding her roots. Now she has helped others to find their paths too.

Janice is a member of Fort Worth Genealogical Society and is currently serving as Director At Large on the Board of Directors.
